General Comments

Licensing Staff, Lindsay Lewis and Susan Dickeson, arrived at the facility to conduct a Monitoring Inspection. Upon arrival, the 4-year-old classes were outside playing in the fenced in playground while the other classes were observed having quiet/nap time inside. Once the children inside were awake, the 4-year-old classes transitioned back inside for afternoon snack.

Afternoon snack time was observed in all classrooms. The Educators were attentive to the children's needs and were observed offering assistance when needed. As the children finished eating afternoon snack, free play was observed. In one classroom an Educator sat with a group of children and read "There was an old lady who swallowed a bat." Later in the afternoon, the children prepared to go outside. Indoor shoes were removed in the classroom and lunchboxes were packed into bookbags. A headcount was observed prior to leaving the classroom. Educators were observed assisting the children with their jackets, mittens and boots. Once all the children were ready, an Educator sang a bubble-gum song to get the attention of the children. The transition outside was smooth.

The indoor classrooms were bright, organized and welcoming. Each space offered a variety of age-appropriate play materials in bins and shelves that allowed for easy access. In the 4-year-old classroom twinkle lights and several elements of nature such as plants and trees were observed throughout the room. Current learning stories, family pictures and artwork were posted on the walls as well as by the cubby area. As a reminder, please ensure Fire Drills are being recorded as they are conducted.
