General Comments

Monitoring Inspection - Pre K Only:

Children and educators observed engaged in a variety of activities this morning including building, sensory opportunities, measuring, dramatic play and stories. One educator sat with a child at the sensory table as they scooped and poured rice together. The other educators read stories and played with a wooden ice cream set with a small group of children.

Purposeful planning is evident through documentation, invitations and materials added to the environment that support the children's current interests (building, measuring, and vehicles). Children's open-ended art pieces are displayed, and educators have included the children's descriptions to the art.

QA Monitor discussed adding anti-slip mats under the car rug as it slides easily and may become a slip hazard for children or staff.

Bagels with cream cheese were served for snack this morning.

Daily attendance records are accurate and reflect all children present. Child-to-staff ratio was observed to be met during Monitoring Inspection.

New staff file (2) review was completed, all required documents are in place.

School-age program was not observed today; QA Monitor will conduct an inspection at a later date.
