General Comments
A Monitoring Inspection was completed this morning. Babies - Upon arrival, the babies were finishing their snacks. Once finished, hand washing was observed. One educator was observed assisting with handwashing, while another educator was observed sitting with the babies, reading and exploring books. Educators stated that the babies are presently interested in body parts and pumpkins. Daily information sheets were observed. The babies were later observed outside, playing in their fenced in play area – ride on cars, caterpillar tunnel, books, and balls. The 2's, 3's, and 4's were observed outside. Children were observed taking part in a variety of activities – Plasma Cars, sand play, chalk, building with blocks, Mr. Potato Heads, mark making, etc. Music was playing in the background. Classrooms were observed while the children were outside. All classrooms were observed to have several well defined learning / play areas – arts and crafts, gross motor, cozy reading areas, building areas, science areas, etc. Art supplies were available and accessible in all classrooms. Documentation was observed in all classrooms – photos of children, learning stories, and children's binders. Allergy information, diaper changing procedures, emergency evacuation procedures, and daily schedules were posted in all rooms. Parent Board observed and all required documentation was posted. 2's - Educators stated that the 2's are presently interested in colors and transportation. 3's - Educators stated that the 3's are presently interested in Monster Trucks, construction, and community helpers. 4's - Educators stated that the 4's are presently interested in Apples, Halloween, and Math - counting and sorting! Positive child guidance techniques were observed in all groups – educators offering choices, educators giving gentle reminders, educators offering children the opportunity for new activities, educators respecting children's feelings, and educators providing appropriate supervision.
