General Comments During QAM's observation of the learning environment, one child engaged in physical aggression toward peers, including hitting and by trying to be engaged with peers. The educator responded by providing redirection, verbal reminders regarding appropriate interactions, and acknowledgment of positive behavior. The educator also provided support to other children in the environment. Further observation noted continued behavior involving the same child and an additional child, including throwing toys and materials and hitting peers. Administration and additional educators intervened. The children not involved were removed from the learning environment. Staff present implemented child guidance strategies and remained with the children until the behaviors subsided.
