General Comments
A Monitoring Inspection was completed this morning. Children were observed both in and outside. Upon arrival, children were observed eating their snacks. After snack, children were observed washing their hands before free play. During free play, a group of children were observed painting, practicing their letters, playing a marble race game, and taking part in dramatic play - tea party and dress up. Several forms of documentation were observed throughout the facility, some of which included: children's artwork, with written descriptions, printed answers to questions that were asked about Fall, and a fire fighter word web. After free play, children were observed gathered in the reading corner. Operator was observed reading a Halloween story to the children. After the story, children were observed lining up, getting their outdoor clothing on, and then playing outdoors. Children were observed playing "Halloween", a game very similar to Fishes and Whales. Children were also observed exploring the woods.
