General Comments

The educators have created a rich learning environment for the children with a variety of props and materials. Purposeful activities are planned based on the interests of the children. Posted documentation in the room incorporates various forms and reflects curriculum planning.

The educators were observed to engage with the children in a kind and respectful manner. During the inspection, positive ways of communicating were demonstrated, thus, modeling building healthy relationships.

The children enjoyed exploring the inside contents of pumpkins today! Many words were used to explain what they were feeling. These pumpkins were collected by the children in the "pumpkin patch" in their outdoor play space.
