General Comments

The children were getting ready for outdoor play time when I arrived. The operator and children went for a walk through the trail in the field. The operator mows a path through the field that twists, turns and goes up and down hill. While on the walk through the trail the children stopped to pick flowers and look for strawberries. During the walk the children took water breaks.

When they got back to the house it was time for water play. The children filled the water foam blasters and sprayed each other, the trees and grass. Some children climbed the tree on the front lawn.

Due to the nice day, the operator decided to have picnic lunch in the shade under the tree.

After lunch, the children played a bit more in the yard before going inside for quiet time.

The operator is energetic and patient with the children. She offers gentle reminders and redirects challenging behaviors in a positive way.

The operator allows the children to explore their interests and constantly engages with the children, making sure each child receives individual attention.

The children are comfortable in the environment and the operator.
