General Comments
Renewal inspection completed today. The children were observed within their indoor and outdoor environments. Hand washing and snack time routines were also observed. The children enjoyed a healthy snack today (yogurt, with bran and berries and homemade banana bread).
The educators were observed to be engaged with the children and spoke to them in a respectful way. The children have developed a "store" with their educators (inside a cabinet within the room) where they can cash in pretend money that they have earned throughout the week for prizes that they choose. The children take turns "running" the store and appeared to really enjoy this sense of responsibility. Other children were engaged with beading, building/constructing with straws and relaxing in the cozy center today.

Many of the children have become very interested with their new yoyo's that they have received at school and were engaged in learning new skills with these today. How else could this new interest be supported within the environment?

Many photos of the children are displayed on poster boards within the hallway for the children to revisit past experiences. There is also a calendar displayed on the wall within the room detailing some activities for each day of the month (ex: make slime, games day, etc.). Ensure that this is based on the interest of the children. Recommending that the educators include the children in this planning process (ask the children questions about their interests, what materials they would enjoy exploring, and what props they would like to add or create within their environment).

The dramatic play area that had been designed as a market/grocery store appears to be attracting less attention than when it had been initially created. How could this be altered/rearranged to support a new interest?

Financial records related to the program are filed at an alternate location (Boy and Girls Club of Charlotte County). Exemption request to be submitted for regulation 24(1)(a).
