General Comments Children and operator were getting ready for a walk on trail by the river when I arrived at the home facility. As the children walked along the trail they looked for sticks, leaves and rocks. They enjoyed running and jumping in the mud puddles, grassy areas and among the trees. There were also a couple big rocks the children like to stop and climb on. When the operator and children returned to the home facility the children's diapers and clothes were changed before getting ready for lunch. The operator constantly interacts with the children and is attentive to their needs. I observed respectful communication between the operator and the children.
