General Comments The operator and children were getting ready for a trip to the splash pad and park when licensing staff arrived. The operator had a wagon full of materials for the children to use at the park. Once they arrived at the park each child had a bright orange vest to put one. This makes it easier to identify the children in the splash pad. The children choose a picnic table, and the operator began to set up an invitation. The operator had a mixture of tapioca pearls, chia seed and a bit of oil and various colors of paint. Each child had a bowl to create their mixture. The operator supplied spoons, pipettes, tongs, scoops, cups and various other materials. While at the park the children experimented with the sensory bin, played in splash pad, marked with chalk on the cement and ran around in the field. The operator would ask opened ended questions to create conversation. Positive guidance was observed during the visit.
