General Comments

Monitoring Inspection:

Infants and educators were observed engaged in a variety of activities this morning including songs, stories, fine motor activities, exploring magnetic tiles and dramatic play. Educators observed down at the children's level engaging in conversation and play with the children.

Purposeful planning is evident through documentation that supports the children's current interests and learning experiences. Documentation is displayed behind Plexi-glass at the infant's level for them to revisit.

During the inspection it was observed that a new child and parent were there for a transition visit. Educators were observed comforting child and engaging with them when the parent stepped out for a short period of time.

QA Monitor reminded the administrators to submit a reportable incident when facility is in illness outbreak. QA Monitor received the report via email during the inspection.

Monthly fire drills are documented.

Daily attendance records are accurate and reflect all children present.

Daily information sheets are completed for each child under 24 months.

Child-to-staff ratio was observed to be met during Monitoring Inspection.

New staff file (1) review was completed, all required documents are in place.
