General Comments

Upon arrival the Operator and children were coming from the programming room to sit down and eat snack. The Operator prepares morning snack and today she serves homemade bread toasted with peanut butter, though some children asked for some cinnamon toast instead which she obliged.

After snack we walked downstairs, and the children listened to the Operator read a couple of stories. The children loved listening. Great interactive book which encourages children to practice counting. Children have also been creating watercolor paintings. Then the Operator invited and assisted children with dressing for outdoor play. The rain held off but lots of puddles to jump in. Children also walked around the yard with their umbrellas, made salad, and soup from the mud kitchen. Lots of implements for the children to use. The operator calls children by their name, and she uses positive language and speaks to children kindly - Do you need help, she engages children in conversation during snack and lunches, talks about their families and interacts constantly with them. Lots of playful conversation is used to keep children engaged. The operator also has plans to purchase new toys, equipment and materials for the outdoor play space. Look forward to returning to see the changes. Indoors the operator assists children with removing wet clothes, changing bottoms then washing hands for lunch.

Administrative records were reviewed, and the Operator tracks attendance daily, practices fire drills monthly and also completes outdoor maintenance checklist.
