General Comments

Upon arrival there were children playing outside and some inside. One of the Operator's advised licensing staff that it was National Art Day and the children have created their version of one of Maud Lewis' painting of the black cat. The children also had created projects that were posted in the facility of artists that they were interested in. Two of the children took pride in presenting their projects to licensing staff.

The Operator's advised licensing staff that to create their pre-planned program, they sit with the children and make a list of their interests for the month, find out what they would like to do and then add to it as needed. It was evident at today's visit that the children are taking the lead in their learning.

The Operator's provide a balance of indoor and outdoor activities. They were able to demonstrate that the curriculum is implemented in their outdoor planning. The Operator's showed licensing staff a house made of wood that the children keep adding to in the wooded area they take trips to.

This facility has a variety of learning centres and materials set up for the children to use. These include but are not limited to games, art, building blocks, reading center, and manipulatives.

All documentation for licensing was easily verified as the filing system is complete and organized.

Licensing staff can now recommend facility for licensing.
