General Comments Children were observed during outdoor play, at snack, and in the indoor environment. Outdoors children played on "snow mountain." Educators reviewed safety rules with children before crossing the parking lot. Educators remained close by and were observed assisting children down the hill. When starting the transition to indoors, children were familiar with the routine and lined up. When ready, the children helped in the head count and called out the number corresponding with where they were in the lineup. Inside, children washed hands and were provided with ample time to eat. The morning routine also includes "Assembly" which is a group gathering to discuss topics such as current events. Children participated in a Think, Pair, Share and older students could choose a younger child to partner up with. The group came back together and shared ideas on climate change and helping the environment. While older children worked on math and other subjects, younger children played with building blocks, connectors and magnet dolls. Educators remained fully engaged with children throughout the morning- asking enriching questions, praising and commenting on children's accomplishments and offering support. Reminders about hands off or sharing materials was done with a patient and kind approach. Child files were reviewed and were organized.
