General Comments I was screened upon arrival. The children were participating in free play during my visit. There are a variety of materials for the children in the ELC home. The children can choose what they want to do, and there is space within the ELC home to accommodate both individual and group activities. There is also adequate centers for the children to do physical activity as well as quiet activities, allowing for a good balance in available activities for the children. During my visit I saw some children partaking in messy play. They seemed to enjoy this a lot, and some of them helped to clean up after as well. I also saw children building 'forts' and making signs and art to put on the fort. I also observed the children doing dramatic play, and they were very creative. Some of the children moved on to play board games while others looked at books. They were talking about going outside at the end of my visit. I observed an abundance of positive child guidance by the operator. She demonstrated positive reinforcement, gentle reminders, and setting clear boundaries. The operator also takes the children's input into account when planning activities. She also showed patience and kindness, and the children seemed comfortable in the space and with the educator. The operator was actively involved in the children's activities. The program appears to be running well.
