General Comments

Licensing staff arrived in afternoon as children were enjoying some quiet activities after lunch. One child was making a pillow with fabric and cotton stuffing that she found. The operator offered a sewing kit and provided guidance and helped prepare the needle and thread for the project.

Children had access to many materials such as board games, books, puzzles, blocks, and doll house. The children had a gymnastic tumble mat taken out as it was a rainy day and they had not gone outside. This provided a gross motor activity for children while staying inside.

All required documentation was posted to the parent board.

Operator and licensing staff discussed providing programming for school aged children. Operator can observe the interests of the children and add to and build on those interests by add materials to expand on their learning and to help them make long term projects. Licensing staff will continue to support operator in providing programming and setting intentions for the day based on the interests of the children.
