General Comments

The Quality Assurance Monitor is on site to conduct the renewal inspection. The ratio was respected during the inspection.

The QAM had a discussion with the administrator regarding Advil consents in the children's files. A facility is only allowed to provide Tynenol for the children unless the parent brings Advil and signs the consent form. The administrator informed the QAM that the new consent forms have been signed by the parents but not inserted in the children's files. The QAM asked the administrator to put the consent in the children's files in the upcoming weeks.

The QAM also had a discussion with the administrator concerning the labeling of the children's lunch boxes and bottles of water. The administrator must ensure that personal belongings are labeled with the children's names, even if these items are not left at the center for the week.

While on site, the QAM observed that parents were picking up their children as soon as they arrived at the facility. The administrator informed the QAM that they rarely go to the designated park on school days due to early pick up from parents, other centers playing there and unsafe situations that have happened with older children not attending the center. The QAM had a discussion regarding outdoor play time, even if the children are not there for 4 consecutive hours after school, outdoor time needs to be provided for all the children for at least 30 minutes. The QAM also asked the administrator if they had access to a large, fenced-in field within walking distance from the center. The administrator informed the QAM that the children can go play in the field.

The QAM observed the children arriving at the center from school pickup. The children were observed transitioning to snack time and playing in the indoor play area. The QAM observed an educator reading a book to the children. At the time of the visit, certain groups were observed creating a Father's Day gift. The administrator also informed the QAM that the center will host a Father's Day activity with the family and the children in honor of Father's Day.
