General Comments
This is the first monitoring visit after licencing. During my visit, the children were napping. There is sufficient supervision provided while napping with the use of audio and video monitors and checks. Cribs are used rather than playpens. The indoor play space is clean and well maintained. There are various materials for the children, and there were some new materials added since opening, such as a new play kitchen, and a new child-size table and chairs for the children. The operator is keeping the attendance records and daily infant information sheets up to date. The outdoor play space is spacious and contains more than one type of surfacing. The play structure is sturdy and appears safe, and there are many different materials for the children to play with outside. Protective surfacing will need to be added at the bottom of the slide and under the swings. The ELC home seems to be running smoothly.
