General Comments

After my arrival, I was signed in. I saw proper handwashing being done during my visit, and it appears that COVID precautions are being followed well. Some children were just getting up from a nap as I arrived. The children asked for relaxing music to be played, and then they played with kinetic sand for quite a while. They seemed to enjoy this activity and used different accessories to create various things with the sand. After that, they cleaned up and had a snack. After snack, they were going to play with play doh.

The ELC home was changed around since my last visit. The new set up seems to work well and appears to control the flow of traffic, and promotes different types of play. It is set up into various centers for the children to play in, and the operator said she is trying to create the 'environment as the third teacher'. There are a variety of accessible materials for the children to play with in each center.

I observed lots of positive child guidance by the operator. She used techniques such as gentle encouragement, offering choices to children, distraction, positive reinforcement and active listening. She also demonstrated teaching and modeling of appropriate social and communication skills, and was calm, patient and kind to the children. She was also quick to tend to the needs of the children.

At the time of my visit, things appeared to go well with no issues.
