General Comments

Monitoring Inspection:

Children and educators observed engaged in a variety of activities this afternoon including open-ended art, gross motor play, stories, puzzles and games. Purposeful planning is evident through documentation, invitations and materials added to the environment that support the children's current interests (painting, art, gymnastics, music, building and construction).

A gross motor space has been added to the school-age room that allows the children to explore gymnastics and big body movements.

Preschool Room - Discussed with staff that age-appropriate art materials are to be open and accessible to children. Currently, materials are stored at children's level in closed clear bins, opening the bins will encourage children to explore art materials more frequently. Educators can start by opening a small amount of art materials and gradually move to having all materials open for the day.

Handwashing routines observed.

New staff file review (3) all required documents in place.
