General Comments I signed into the visitors log upon arrival. The center appears to be following COVID protocols and the school age children were wearing their masks. I observed the children working on making stuffed frogs. There were different things they could fill them with, and then they were going to learn how to sew. Other children were playing in a big box, decorating it with markers. Children's work was displayed in the space, and there is a Christmas tree up with children's decorations on it. There is also children's work displayed in the form of painted rocks and flower pots. It appears the children use natural elements to create new things. I discussed with the administrator about what could be done when there is such a diverse range of interests and energy levels of the children. I suggested to add some more materials to the room; it might be beneficial to add more blocks and other building materials, trucks, and accessible art supplies. Adding more defined play centers throughout the room might promote different types of play and manage the flow of traffic as well. Overall, the program appeared to be going well.
