General Comments

Monitoring Inspection:

Children and educators observed engaged in a variety of activities this morning including outdoor play, dramatic play, singing songs, stories with props, digging and dumping, sensory opportunities and a shape matching game. A small group of two-year-olds were observed exploring the inside of a pumpkin with their educator in the outdoor play area. The infants were observed exploring a spider web sensory/fine motor activity that their educators had prepared for them. The preschool children from Room 5 had gone on a walk to watch the construction of the new local school as they are currently interested in vehicles and the neighborhood.

Each of the play areas including the outdoors are set-up with a variety of materials and invitations for the children to explore freely. Educators were observed engaging in meaningful conversations at the children's level and encouraging children to problem solve independently.

Purposeful planning is evident through documentation, invitations and materials added to the environments that support the children's current interests (balls, babies, music, pumpkins, maps/roads, the neighborhood and construction. Documentation is also displayed within the outdoor play areas.

The facility is currently in an illness outbreak; ensure a reportable incident is completed and submitted to QA Monitor.

Handwashing routines were observed during washroom and diapering routines, after outdoor play and before mealtimes.

A picnic style lunch was served today that included cheese, crackers, trail mix, carrots and pickles. Children were observed serving themselves independently.

Monthly fire drills are documented.

Daily attendance records are accurate and reflect all children present. Child-to-staff ratio was observed to be met during Monitoring Inspection. Educators were observed conducting frequent headcounts to ensure all children are present.

Infant Daily Information sheets were observed to be complete.
