General Comments
Children were engaged in independent play upon arrival of licensing staff. Activities included lego, colouring, playdough and children playing on the carpet with various items from different bins mixed together. The children were able to experience a lot of freedom in the selection of their materials and were not restricted to only using one bin of materials at a time. Children were observed carrying materials from one activity area to another to expand on their play. Children were also enjoying creating collaborative flowers where different children coloured different sections of a flower which was posted on the wall once it was completed. Purposely planned programming was visible in a web that the educators created with the children that included ideas and interests for the month of April. Topics such as Easter, Earth Day, and Spring were explored and expanded on. Learning stories were posted about Black Capped Chick-a-dees, Earth Day, Milking cows and Blocks and Monster Trucks. All learning stories were linked nicely to the curriculum. Positive behaviour guidance was observed at all times throughout the inspection.
