General Comments
On the day of my visit the children were enjoying a bit of free play time. The educators were in the process of getting an activity together of tracing hands and making designs on them. The educators have started documenting as they showed me the first learning story they completed. It was titled "sensory bin fun" I reviewed the children's profiles and updated the new staff information. Discussed with educator of putting up curtains for nap time to make it a bit darker in the room. This might help the children fall asleep. Educators should also be purposely planning activities in their daily program. I observed plenty of positive guidance and interaction of the educators with the children.
