General Comments
Renewal Inspection: The infants were observed in the morning during the following times: morning snack, lunch, diaper changes, handwashing, inside the classroom environment, and outdoor play. The infants were observed engaging in various activities including playing with dinosaurs, mark-making, listening to stories, dancing, water play, and exploring a sensory bin. The water table featured a melted snowman, which included melted ice, buttons, googly eyes, and ornaments. The table was used under direct supervision. After free play, the Educator took the infants on a walk around the area. During the walk, the infants noticed their shadows, and the Educator asked questions based on their reactions. The Educator located a puddle and invited the infants to jump in it. The infants then found a ball and chased it up and down the grassy hill. The Educator was observed engaging in consistent verbal interaction, narrating and explaining the infants' actions. The Educator celebrated the infants as they achieved new developmental opportunities. The Educator created both documentation binders and doodle books for each child. The documentation binders contained previous play experiences, and the doodle books included a photo of each child along with samples of their mark-making. The following records were reviewed: incident logs, fire drills, educator professional learning hours, infant-toddler daily sheets, and daily attendance records. The Operator's file and all child files were reviewed. All required documentation was found to be in place. The Day Care Home is recommended for licensing.
