General Comments Licensing arrived to do a monitoring visit. The children were playing inside either climbing in one section, playing yoga ball soccer in the other section or sitting at the tables drawing, doing lego or reading. Staff were very engaged and supervised the climbing closely as well as playing games with the children and checking that they took time to drink water and take a break if they were playing too hard or getting too hot. Staff use clapping cues to get the children's attention, and the children and staff were respectful and kind to each other. The program is run on a weekly basis in the summer and different children attend different weeks. Today is Water Wednesday and the group will go to the splash pad at Wilmot Park for lunch and water play in the afternoon. All snacks and lunches are brought from home. Staff take their cell phones, attendance, first aid kits, emergency contact list and water with them to the park. Seven child files were checked and 3 staff files and they were found to be complete. All the necessary postings are on the parent board, and the incident log is being maintained. All the staff practice proper child guidance and inclusive policies.
