General Comments

Upon Licensing Staff arrival, the children were having their snack. Educators were observed sitting with the children and assisting when needed. The hallways between the rooms were inviting and tidy. Children's artwork, photos and learning stories were on display. The children's belongings were on hooks, clearly labeled and organized.

Each room was clean and had a large selection of wooden toys such as blocks, puzzles and play kitchens. Family photos were on the walls as well as children's artwork, the alphabet and numbers. An ocean sensory table was set up with gemstones, sand, seashells and rocks to reflect planned activities. Children were observed playing with tambourines, dancing, building with blocks and playing with trucks on a mat.

Nap time was observed during the inspection. The rooms were very calm, and Educators were observed sitting on the floor, rubbing backs, or rocking children to sleep. Some of the children who were not sleeping painted quietly and played. Positive child guidance was observed when the children began to wake up. Educators spoke softly and guided the children to the bathroom.

The preschool age outdoor play space had a small raised wooden garden, a large gazebo over a mud kitchen with pots and pans, tires and a wooden climber. The infant outdoor play space had balls, a mud kitchen with pots and pans, a slide, as well as piece of black pipe. An Educator informed me that the children enjoy putting rocks or cars into the pipe and will often carry it around. Additional toys and materials were in the shed and both spaces had large bright shade sails.

Children and Educator allergies were clearly posted in each room and epi pens were accessible and labeled.

Licensing Staff recommends for renewal.
