General Comments

Upon my arrival the children were finishing a snack and some were sitting on the floor watching Blippi, today is pyjama day. The children then gathered together with the educator, talked about getting dressed for outside, to ensure everyone is dressed warmly.

I joined the preschool group on their nature walk in the trail located behind the school. The walk was very educational and lots of enriching conversations were heard. Not only that the walks are educational, the children are also making community connections on their walks. Today they met up with a person and her dog that they see often in the trail and at the school and they were able to engage with her and her dog. Lots of laughter and smiles heard from both staff and children throughout the morning. When we arrived back at the Centre, the children had lunch and had a nap/rest period.

The preschool classroom is clean and organized and is filled with natural elements and materials. The educators were engaged with the children and speaking to the children in a respectful manner. They were heard using positive child guidance such as encouraging words and positive reinforcement. There is evidence of the children's learning, learning stories are on the wall and a projector is used and a PowerPoint with photos of the children learning is shown throughout the day.

The afterschool classroom is well equipped with age-appropriate materials. The children have access to Legos, art supplies, pretend play materials, books, blocks and games. In the afternoon the children were playing a murder mystery game together. The educator was observed providing gentle reminders and redirection when needed.

A reminder for the afterschool room that monthly fire drills must be completed and documented, and the first aid kit checklist must also be completed to document regular inspection of the first aid kit.
I recommend for renewal.
