General Comments

A renewal inspection occurred today. Children were observed both indoors and outdoors. Various forms of invitations were set up, including chalk paint. Children (as well as educators) were engaged in their learning environments, forming meaningful relationships and engaging in free play activities. Areas were flexible to accommodate children's emerging interests. Furnishings were child-size, comfortable and accessible. Documentation was present within the classrooms that displayed open-ended art projects created and led by the children. Educators had purposely planned activities that took into account each child's strengths, interests and desires. Allergies were clearly posted, as well as daily routine. All checks were complete. All staff and a random review of children's files were also verified and complete. Licensing had conversation with admin about outdoor playgrounds. The children will only be using the larger playground due to exposed bolts on the smaller playground.
