General Comments A renewal inspection occurred today. The children were engaged in many different activities indoors and out. Indoors the educators have lots of purposeful documentation of the children engaged in their planned activities. Many forms of invitations are set up, including inviting children to build a poppy. Educators were observed to be at eye level with the children when engaged in conversation. In Tykes room, educators had children's photos on blocks and names posted throughout the environment creating a sense of belonging and honoring children. In Munchkins room, photos on baskets were displayed at children's level and could be independently accessed. Labelling baskets in this way enables children to clean up independently. In sprouts room song and story spoon props provides children with new ways to engage with familiar songs and stories. Reminder to date all documentation to demonstrate that it is current.
