General Comments

A renewal inspection occurred today. All the educators were engaged and on the children's level during play. Each room had decorations for christmas and the children were excited showing off their hard work.

In the baby room, the educators have lots of purposeful planning displayed showing the children's interest and had lots of indoor props and materials (such as sensory light table with bows) displayed at the children's level and can be independently accessed. The children loved dancing to the Christmas music which peeked their interests and curiosities.

In the tot's room the educators were at children level. and displayed different forms of documentation throughout the room that demonstrated Childrens on going group project work and individual work in progress.

The daily routines in each room were flexible yet predictable. Their routines include ongoing indoor and outdoor opportunities for authentic learning (problem solving, creative thinking, relationship building and persistence.

All staff and children's files reviewed and complete.

Diaper changing procedures completed correctly.
