General Comments
A renewal inspection was conducted for the preschool and school-age program. The preschool children were invited to attend a special musical presentation during the morning. They had the opportunity to listen to and learn about the violin, viola, and cello. The preschool children were also observed participating in a variety of outdoor activities, including enjoying a picnic-style lunch, riding plasma cars, swinging, digging in the mulch, and engaging in imaginative play in the mud kitchen area. The school-age children visited the playground during the morning. Upon returning, the children washed their hands and enjoyed lunch outdoors. They were observed participating in a variety of activities, including marble play, playing with dinosaurs, swinging, digging, and playing with cars. The educators were observed sitting with and engaging in play with the children. They were appropriately positioned throughout the outdoor play space, ensuring effective supervision while maintaining positive and responsive interactions with the children. The classrooms were arranged with a wide range of open-ended materials to support the children's learning and play experiences. Invitations to play were thoughtfully prepared and available for the children upon their return from outdoor play. Materials were stored on low, open shelves, making them easily accessible and promoting independent choice and exploration. Documentation was current and reflective of the children's recent learning experiences. Photographs of the children and samples of their artwork were displayed throughout both the indoor and outdoor environments. The following records were reviewed during the inspection: incident logs, fire drill records, daily attendance records, professional learning records, a sample of children's files, and all staff files. The facility is recommended for licensing.
