General Comments
All but one child was still napping when licensing staff arrived. One child sleeps upstairs in a crib with video monitoring and the other children sleep on cots on the main level observable by the operator. The space provides opportunities for gross motor play with large pillows and soft climbing blocks, imaginative play with a house and resources, a bookshelf of books and shelves with resources. Once all children woke from naps, they were offered a snack in the kitchen area where highchairs are available for infants and a small table for preschoolers. The operator took care to clean children's hands and faces thoroughly after snack and encouraged children to use the washroom or the operator changed bums in preparation to go outside. A school-age child arrived when children were preparing to go outside. Once children were outside, they explored the outdoor area. One child was interested in capturing a spider and found a bug container to observe the spider and show the other children. Multiple pairs of sunglasses were available for children to share and the educator encouraged children to problem solve.
