| General Comments |
| This was the operator's first monitoring inspection since becoming licensed. The operator displayed positive child guidance throughout the morning. Children were given kind reminders about holding the wagon during the walk and being gentle with others. The indoor space is clean, tidy and well-maintained. Routines and transitions were calm, and children had ample time to practice dressing themselves. Between snack and lunch, the group went to the park and a walk through the trail. The operator walked at a pace that allowed the infant and toddlers to walk independently. She was diligent to ensure the walk to the park was safe. Children walked on the inside of the wagon, closest to the curb and held the wagon's side. The group stopped if a car was going past, and time was taken to look for cars both ways when crossing. Children were appropriately dressed in layers. When one child did not have a hat or mitts in their bag, the operator secured the child's hood of both their sweater and jacket. She also provided the child with a pair of spare mitts. |
