General Comments

Children were having snack before heading to the park this morning. A small table is set up in the playroom for children to eat. Children washed their hands before beginning snack and waiting for the last child to arrive. The room is very welcoming with a round rug in the middle of the floor and soft baskets on shelves with resources. A bookshelf held books that the children liked to look at before leaving for the park. A kitchen including food and appliances is located in the space, as well.

The children got dressed with a little help and sang several songs as they waited for everyone to be ready. The children wore the same color vest to be easily identifiable in the park.

The wagon was loaded up with backpacks and lunch bags to make the small walk to the park. Several licensed homes have built a community and meet at the park daily to play and engage in different activities. Today, they experimented with liquid chalk by children breaking up pieces of chalk with small mallets and feet and then adding water. The chalk was placed in muffin trays and children were provided with painting utensils to paint. Some children preferred the whole chalk and drew pictures and outlines of their bodies on the pavement. The second planned activity was bubbles with large bubble wands for the children to run and blow bubbles with. The combination of homes allowed children to play with friends and engage in play with one educator while another was with another activity. The educators were all engaged with the children running with the children, involved in the activities, and supporting children on playground equipment. Children received regular sunscreen application and water breaks.

Children brought their lunch today to have at the park and wipes are brought to clean hands beforehand.
