General Comments Upon licensing staff's arrival, the children had not yet arrived at the afterschool program. During this time, staff and children's files were reviewed and found to be compliant. Monthly fire drills and outdoor playground inspections had been completed as required. The group arrived at approximately 3:30 p.m. following an end-of-school-year outing with East Coast Leadership Academy. Upon arrival, children washed their hands and placed their belongings in their cubbies. Educators had prepared several invitations to play, including Monopoly, Guess Who, a play kitchen area, and crafts. Some children were observed playing chess, drawing on the whiteboard tables, and engaging in play with the educators. Popcorn was set out for the children to eat at the table if they were hungry. The environment was clean, organized, and provided a variety of age-appropriate materials and activities. As temperatures were high and the outing had taken place outdoors, the children remained indoors for the afternoon to cool down. Only positive child guidance practices were observed throughout the visit. Licensing staff recommends the program for renewal.
