General Comments

The Quality Assurance Monitor was on site to discuss the outdoor play area. Due to upcoming construction next to the facility, the team is proposing to relocate the fence. To proceed with these changes to the outdoor playground, the administrator must submit an Application for Change.

During the visit, the Quality Assurance Monitor observed that one classroom had seven children signed in on the Attendance Sheet, while eight children were present. The administrator explained that one child had gone into the classroom for a visit. The administrator must ensure that the Attendance Sheet is consistently updated and accurately reflects the number of children present at all times. The educator promptly added the child to the list.

The ratio is respected during the visit.
