General Comments
QAM observed the learning environment during the morning program. Indoor learning spaces included a variety of accessible materials and invitations that supported children's exploration and engagement, including books with related activities, musical instruments, sand play materials, blocks, spelling activities, and scrap paper. During outdoor play, QAM observed educators assisting children with sunscreen application. The outdoor learning environment provided opportunities for active play and exploration through the availability of trucks, a chalkboard, a mud kitchen, hammocks, and a tire swing. QAM discussed with the administrator the importance of ensuring outdoor materials and supplies are regularly replenished to support ongoing engagement and a variety of learning experiences for children.
