Observations: When arriving at the center it was graduation day for preschool kids. There was a lot a visitor outside, waiting on the little ones to come and do their performance once the show was done, families and children had a snack together. The two infant groups and the two-years-old went to play at the pickle ball field, they blew bubbles, drew with chalks, play with balls, pushed their wagon and explored their surroundings. The tree-year-old group was outside playing at the center's playground, they were very busy baking sand cake and building castles.
