General Comments

Upon licensing staff arrival, the children were engaged in free play activities such as arts and crafts, reading books and playing with magnetic blocks. Attendance and a headcount were taken by one educator.

During free play, the children played "mini sticks", basketball, and played with snowflake tiles. Educators were engaged in the activities of the children and were aware of the children's needs. The educators encouraged the children who had not had lunch yet to go wash their hands before hot lunch. Once hot lunch arrived, the children sat down and ate lunch. In the meantime, another educator played tag with the remaining children. One educator noticed a child crying near the cozy corner, the educator went to see why the child was crying. The child expressed that they were not feeling well and the educator called their parents to come pick them up.

Educators were observed giving a verbal reminder to the children for a transition to cleaning up before going outside. After the countdown, the children all sang a cleanup song while cleaning up before getting ready to go outside. All children got ready to go outside and lined up in the gym. A headcount was done before going outside and the educators were seen bringing their emergency kit bags with them outside.

While outside, the children engaged in free play. Some children decided to build a campfire under the play structure and other played on the swings. The outdoor play areas were safe and neat. Educators were observed conducting headcounts while outside and were engaged in the children's activities. Some materials were brought outside to play such as soccer balls and plush toys.

Educators were in touch with the children's needs and were welcoming to licensing staff.
