General Comments A renewal inspection took place today. Children were observed in both indoor and outdoor environments. Indoors, the rooms were arranged with various invitations throughout the space. In the "Buds and Blossoms" room, a sensory table was set up with sea shells and assorted small parts. When asked about the setup, the educator explained they were adding materials to create an "I Spy Table." The room featured a wide range of art supplies, including but not limited to: paint, crayons, paper, scissors, and small glueable items. The surrounding art area reflected child-led creativity. Children had painted pictures and added glue-on googly eyes for display. The art shelf was well-organized and clearly labeled, allowing both educators and children to easily access materials. In the "Wildflower" room, documentation titled "Dirty Cars" was displayed, dated October 2025. A cozy reading corner included a large grey couch, a circular rug, and a variety of books available to the children. One of the titles observed was "There Is a Bear on My Chair". A felt board with movable felt pieces was also available for exploration. Lunches were observed and individually labeled for each child. Outdoors, a large mud kitchen, custom-made by a local, was present. Laminated learning stories created by educators were displayed throughout the outdoor play area. All outdoor equipment was observed to be in excellent condition. Admin has plans to expand the outdoor space. Fire drills have been completed, along with staff and children's files. Ratio and attendance records were also reviewed and found to be complete.
